

organic and sustainable industry standards

March 3rd. 2008

Hello!

Welcome to OASIS, an organization whose purpose is to support organic and sustainable Health & Beauty consumer goods. OASIS meets the unprecedented consumer demand for reliable production standards for companies pursuing a greater share of the Organic and Sustainable Market. Companies pursuing this market have no functional standard to utilize. We have identified the concept of sustainable as covering the broader spectrum of which organic is but one measurement. It is our hope that we will work together to develop HBA standards that will measure different types of sustainable practices, including organic production and sustainable packaging for the HBA category, to eventually include household cleaners and other products.

Consumer demand for organic and sustainable goods now outpaces its conventional counterparts in virtually every category. As distribution channels change, more capital flows and suppliers grow to meet demand, the need for workable standards the consumer can trust becomes more important than ever – and more relevant to the viability of the sustainable industry. The USDA has done a good job at regulating organic agricultural goods, but does not have the mandate to support the Personal Care Industry. Other measures of sustainability, such as packaging and manufacturing of non-food household consumer products, remain outside of USDA's scope.

Organic And Sustainable Industry Standards – OASIS - was formed by a group of concerned trade professionals, and we are pleased to invite you to join today. Join as a voting member if you plan on certifying a Health and Beauty product or ingredients made using organic raw materials. Join as a supporting member if you work in a supporting role in the production of sustainable Health and Beauty products.

We contact you in the hope that you share this vision and want to be a part of this exciting organization. OASIS has finally established workable standards for organic and sustainable manufacturing for the Health and Beauty industry, to the benefit of the manufacturer, the consumer and, most importantly, to our living planet. OASIS Standards will become internationally recognized, and regarded as the seal that represents Sustainable and Organic Manufacturing. We hope you will join in this work and contact us with your support for OASIS. Please do not hesitate to contact us regarding any questions or feedback you may have about OASIS.
